Egypt Hints Plea to UN For Protection

From AP and Reuters

Egyptian sources in Cairo said Tuesday Egypt may take its case against Britain and France to the UN Security Council as part of President Gamal Abdel Nasser's campaign to build up international support to prevent Anglo-French use of force in the Suez Canal crisis.

In Washington Defence Secretary Wilson described the Suez situation as a "relatively small thing" and expressed hope the problem could be settled by a conference "rather than wave the big stick and threaten people."

Britain Tuesday assured the 21 countries invited to the London conference on Suez that their attendance would not mean they back the West in asking internationalization of the key waterway.

But the foreign office in London, in a statement Tuesday night, emphasized that the conference, due to start in nine days, should confine itself to discussing arrangements for an international system for operating the canal.

Wants Friends Invited

In Moscow, Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov summoned the ambassadors of Britain and France, presumably to discuss attendance at the London conference. Soviet press comments indicate Russia seeks extension of the conference to include such Communist countries as Poland and Red China.

Prime Minister Eden Tuesday met senior cabinet members in London to discuss latest developments resulting from Egypt's nationalization of the canal on July 26.

The whole emphasis in London now appeared to have shifted to a peaceful settlement through negotiation rather than by military means. But Britain went ahead with military measures in case she feels she has to use force to guarantee that the vital waterway remains free of one-power control.

The evacuation of 900 women and children, families of British civilians employed to maintain air bases in the Suez Canal zone since British troops were withdrawn six weeks ago, was ordered. Some were being airlifted out, others going by sea. The aircraft carrier Ocean sailed Tuesday night from Devonport naval base for the Mediterranean, with Royal Artillery gunners. She was the third aircraft carrier to sail since Sunday with parachute troops and other forces.

The aircraft carrier Albion also was being refitted at Portsmouth under orders to prepare for service as soon as possible.

Infantrymen were assembling to embark today on the troopship Dunera.

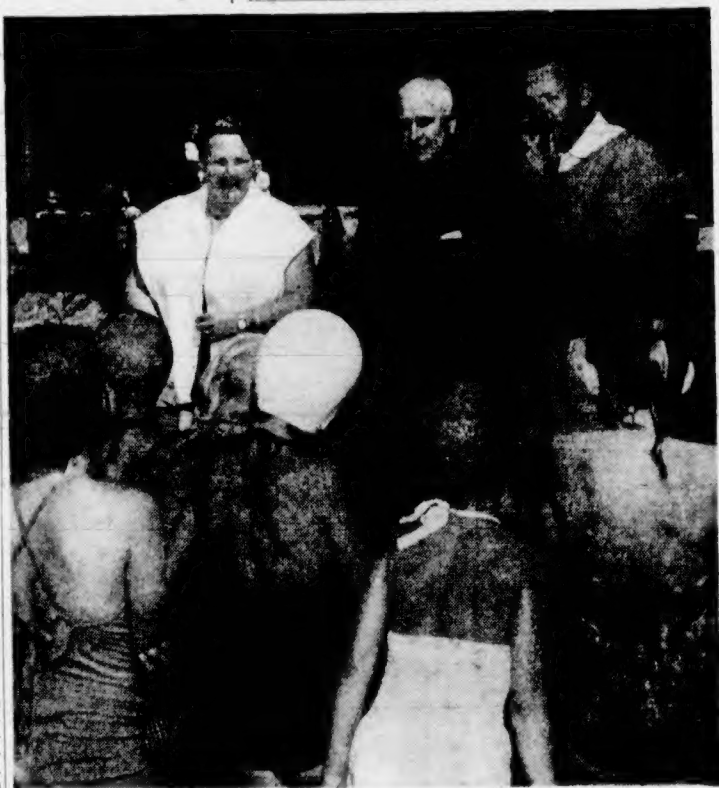

A big airlift of troops to Cyprus and Malta was being organized. RAF transport specialists were preparing jet Comets and big jet-prop Britannias, each capable of carrying 100 soldiers, for the job.

As the tension mounted, oil shares on the London stock exchange took a $150,000,000 dive Tuesday.

Death Toll May Top 1,000 After Giant Blasts Rip City

Two famous figures in Canadian swimming circles visited Colonist learn-to-swim classes at Elk Lake's Happyland yesterday. Mrs. Margie Naysmith, left, instructor, introduced coach Gus Ryder, centre, and Cliff Lumsdon, right, Atlantic City marathon victor this year, to her charges. Mr. Ryder, mentoring Marilyn Bell for her Juan de Fuca attempt Friday, said: "Marilyn was just like you kiddies not so long ago. Mrs. Naysmith and the Colonist are to be congratulated on this splendid job of teaching." Lumsdon, too, had words of praise and encouragement.

U.S. 'Disaster' Close

Democrats Blast 'Leaderless Policy'

CHICAGO (AP)—Democrats blasted away at President Eisenhower Tuesday for what they called a "leaderless" foreign policy that has narrowly avoided plunging the United States into "disaster."

Sharp criticisms came from witnesses and members of the Democratic national convention platform committee as it turned to considering a foreign policy declaration.

Representative Emanuel Celler of New York, a committee member, charged the Eisenhower administration was at least partly responsible for Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal.

Celler said when the Republican administration agreed to Britain's withdrawing troops from Suez some time earlier it left the canal vulnerable to seizure.

CLOSE TO WAR

Representative Thomas J. Dodd of Connecticut said administration policies in the Middle East have "led us dangerously close to war." On behalf of 91 Democratic members of Congress, he urged a platform plank condemning Republican policies in that area.

Economist Robert R. Nathan, speaking for Americans for Democratic Action, said the United States under Eisenhower has appeared before the world as "a divided, leaderless land." Nathan, just returned from a month in Asia, said "we have blundered and threatened, flattered and insulted, blown hot and cold" and generally "floundered" in handling foreign problems.

FOR OWN SAKES

Nathan said the United States must make it clear to other countries that "we are interested in them for their own sakes, and not merely as actual or potential allies in the cold war."

Governor G. Mennen Williams of Michigan proposed that the Democratic platform call for liberalized immigration laws, freedom for captive nations and expanded foreign trade.

Chicago Reassures Delegates

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago's police outbreak has jumped to 582 cases and 13 deaths; but the city's chief medical officer advised delegates arriving for next week's Democratic party convention that "there is absolutely no cause for alarm."

"However, we'll be glad to provide stations and give shots to delegates if they want to be inoculated," Dr. Herman N. Bundesen said.

Bunden reported 66 weekend cases and two deaths up to midnight Sunday.

Ecuador Province Revolts

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—The province of Manabí in western Ecuador was reported in revolt Tuesday under leadership of a rebellious military garrison and defeated political leaders.

The Ecuadorian military high command issued an ultimatum demanding unconditional surrender of the rebel garrison in the river city of Portoviejo, the provincial capital of 20,000. The garrison is manned by 300 troops.

Jorge Acosta, sub-secretary of the interior, said the entire province of Manabí, which has 385,000 population, was involved in the uprising.

Commons Approves Special Tax

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons Tuesday night gave final approval without a recorded vote to a government bill to tax special Canadian editions of foreign magazines.

The legislation, which earlier in the session had been expected to produce a lengthy debate, went through all stages of passage in just two hours and 15 minutes. It now goes to the Senate.

During debate on the resolution, Hon. W. Earl Rowe, acting opposition leader, described the tax as "dishonest." He said it will not serve the purpose for which it is intended—to protect Canadian magazines against foreign competition.

Colombia Centre Stricken

CALI, Colombia (AP)—Hundreds of persons were reported killed Tuesday in tremendous explosions and fires erupting from seven dynamite trucks parked in the heart of Cali.

The first official report called it political sabotage.

The death toll—still guesswork Tuesday night—was estimated at from 300 to 1,000 or more. Many were injured.

Call newspaper estimates put the death toll as high as 1,000 while searching for bodies was far from complete.

SLEPT IN CABS

The seven trucks were part of a 10-vehicle convoy which left the port of Buenaventura Monday with dynamite to be delivered to the public works ministry in Bogota. The drivers of the seven trucks decided to spend the night here, sleeping in the cabs of the vehicles.

The blast virtually levelled an area eight blocks square and shook all sections of the city. The spot where the trucks had been parked was churned into a large crater. Buildings as far as 12 blocks away from the explosion centre were damaged extensively.

HOLD LAST RITES

Funeral services for the victims were held during the day in the Roman Catholic Cathedral.

Authorities withheld casualty lists but it was reported no fewer than 300 victims would be buried in a common grave.

Authorities received from relatives on the fate of residents in the blast and fire area, figured the death toll at more than 500.

More than 400 injured, most of them in serious condition, were being treated in hospitals, clinics and emergency hospitals.

A series of blasts and spreading fires levelled eight square blocks of the city of about 250,000.

GENERAL PANIC

General panic set in as frightened residents dashed into the streets. Troops and police were quickly on the scene, attempting to restore order.

Urgent calls were sent out for drugs and medical supplies. The Red Cross and Colombian government dispatched help from Bogota, including planes carrying blood for transfusions.

Marilyn To Try Friday

Marilyn Bell will stack her impressive distance swimming records against grumpy Juan de Fuca strait Friday morning.

The sudden announcement to make the big attempt well before the six-week training schedule was completed, was predicted Sunday in The Daily Colonist, although the actual date was moved back even further than expected.

The earlier start was the result of Marilyn's showing Saturday. She so impressed her navigator, Capt. Ellice Cavin, with the speed of her two-hour, six-mile training swim that the veteran tug skipper advised starting this week.

Coach Gus Ryder said Marilyn's physical condition was now at a peak along with her mental "desire" to tackle the biggest challenge of the 18-year-old's career.

FROM HORSESHOE BAY

Most famous personality ever to attempt the toughest distance swims, Marilyn plans to start at 5:45 a.m. from Horseshoe bay, a point from which scores of predecessors, including Florence Chadwick, began swims with high hopes only to see them dashed hours later by exhaustion, seasickness, winds or cold.

Although course and tidal conditions have not been disclosed by Capt. Cavin, authorities on the strait indicated she would be plunging into a moderate or three-foot ebb which will carry her away from Victoria.

Midway in the course she will be racing to catch an advantageous seven-foot flood tide moving toward Port Angeles.

Of course, weather will be an important factor in the Bell bid. Her handlers said Marilyn will not be kept in the water if tides are missed or winds blow up a chop.

Plans call for 24-hour postponements, with adjustments in time to conform with tidal runs, in the event the Friday morning effort is unsuccessful or called off.

Of Friday's weather, Bill Mackie, Dominion forecaster at Gonzales, was reluctant to make any firm prediction.

"The general weather picture should hold up. At worst, we can expect light southwesterly winds in the late afternoon and evening."

"But it takes very little change in temperatures to get the wind moving," he said. "The whole picture may change by Friday."

Captain Cavin predicted the swim would take from 10 to 12 hours from Horseshoe bay to Ediz hook, the narrow neck of land jutting northeast from Port Angeles.

Jammed around the white-capped and goggled swimmer will be the largest flotilla of boats to accompany any strait aspirant since the much-ballyhooed, but abortive, attempt of Florence Chadwick two years ago.

Aboard various size boats, from large tugs to outboard-driven runabouts, will be reporters and photographers from Victoria, Toronto and Vancouver newspapers, as well as radio and television announcers and cameramen.

Caught up in the flurry of preparations, the harassed star of the show said yesterday she didn't think she "should take any money unless" she made a successful crossing.

In a "diary" article written yesterday for the sponsoring Toronto Telegram and other subscribing newspapers outside of Victoria, Marilyn stated:

"I'm not worried about the swim. I'll go in there and give it the best I have... but I have a feeling about this swim. I can't explain what the feeling is. It's working deep inside me, but hasn't crystallized in my mind yet... I guess the excitement of springing the swim so soon has had something to do with it. I've been having the worst dreams."

Mayor Doesn't Like It

Vancouver Gets Green Light; First Sunday Ball Game Set

VANCOUVER (CP)—City council passed a by-law Tuesday legalizing commercial sport here on Sunday afternoons, and officials of the Vancouver Mounties announced almost immediately that they will play a Pacific Coast League game here Sunday, Aug. 26.

Cedric Tallis, general manager of the baseball club, said Mounties will play Portland Beavers in the first Sunday game.

Council adopted the by-law in a surprise move despite the objections of Mayor Fred Hume and a legal opinion that the city charter does not give council powers to pass such a by-law.

Four of the six council members approved the by-law to make Sunday sport legal between 1:30 p.m. and 9 p.m. Mayor Hume, unable to cast a vote, and the two dissenting council members argued that it was impractical to pass a by-law that may not stand up in the courts.

The four who voted in favor of the by-law argued that they were expressing the wishes of Vancouver residents who gave approval to Sunday sport in a plebiscite last December.

Firefighters Fail To Rescue Roast

Seaside firemen jumped on a truck and raced to the rescue of a burning roast last night.

But it was too late. The roast was a total loss.

The call was to the home of Gordon Christian, 725 Cowper avenue. His daughter, about 10 years old, was alone and ran to a neighbor saying the oven had exploded.

A fireman carried the burning three-pound roast to the driveway outside to be extinguished.

Swimmers Still Wait For Break in Winds

They're still waiting for that break:

Ben Laughren, weather permitting, was scheduled to have left at 3 a.m. today. If frustrated again by winds, he may take a boat ride to Port Angeles to start a northbound swim later this morning.

Billie Benedict is back in the line-up. She planned to leave from Gonzales point around 4 a.m.

Epidemic Hits Tribe

Eight Eskimos Cough Their Lives Away

MOOSEHOLE, Ont. (CP)—An epidemic of whooping cough has taken the lives of eight Belcher Island Eskimos and sent 14 others to hospital at Moose Factory on the southwestern shore of James Bay, it was reported Tuesday.

Six of the victims were under nine months of age. One child died after arriving at the hospital.

The Belcher Mining Corporation, now exploring the iron-rich Belcher Islands about 150 miles off the southeastern shore of Hudson's Bay, is credited with saving the lives of dozens of others by providing food during the last three weeks.

The disease among the islands' population of 185 Eskimos apparently was caused by a germ carried by two families which had visited Great Whale river, on the mainland opposite the island chain.

In Ottawa, an Indian health service spokesman said no official word of the outbreak has reached the capital. However, the Moose Factory hospital had authority to take action when such situations arose.

Old RN Salts Shudder

Tears Shatter Tradition

DEVONPORT, England (AP)—The British aircraft carrier Ocean, moored here to take on Mediterranean-bound troops, shattered an admiralty tradition Tuesday. It took a fearful bride aboard. And that wasn't all. As the loading winches squealed, Capt. E. G. Roper conned the surroundings from the bridge. His glasses spied a dejected young woman weeping on the quayside. He sent an aide to inquire.

She turned out to be Mrs. Olive Potkins, 27. She was in tears because the Suez crisis was tearing away her husband, L. Cpl. Bill Potkins, 31, whom she married last Saturday.

"Bring her aboard," the captain said. And not only that—he ordered the corporal and his bride confined alone to the captain's cabin from noon to midnight.

Old salts couldn't remember the like.

After the Ocean sailed Thursday night Mrs. Potkins was back on the quayside, a happier woman.

"An example of real naval courtesy, I call it," she said.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

TWO little boys cut their feet badly on broken bottles which some criminal clod had thrown in a city wading pool.

I found my car with a flat tire, ripped on the jagged edges of a beer bottle shattered beside the road.

We rowed out to an island in the lake, hoping to have a swim and a picnic; but the ground and the lake bottom were so littered with broken glass and old cans that we left in disgust.

Fouling the country with miscellaneous junk is filthy bad manners, to say the least. But throwing glass is a serious crime.

Forest fires are often started by a piece of glass that concentrates the rays of the sun.

A person may sever an artery on a broken bottle and (lacking knowledge of first aid) bleed to death before he can get help.

The lout who threw the bottle is to blame for the forest fire, as certainly as though he had poured oil on a bush and set a match to it.

He is guilty of cutting a little boy's foot, just as though he had slashed the boy with a knife.

People who are caught setting fires and attacking others with knives are sent to jail or a mental home. Bottle-throwers deserve the same treatment.

Provinces and cities have laws against scattering dangerous rubbish. However, such an offence is often impossible to prove, and if it is proved, the penalties are too light.

Under Victoria's streets traffic by-law, for instance, a vandal who threw glass could be fined no more than $100. For a crime involving such danger to person and property, $100 is not enough.

Lawyers tell me, however, that the police could bring up a bigger gun against bottle-throwing hoodlums, if they chose.

It is Section 165 of the Criminal Code, dealing with those who commit nuisances and endanger the safety of the public. Under the Criminal Code, offenders could be punished with severe fines and jail terms.

Such punishment is what they deserve.

The police can't be everywhere at once. Bottle-throwers are hard to catch. I suggest that ordinary citizens (remembering those forest fires and the little boy with a gashed foot) should lay information with the police against anyone they see throwing bottles.

And if the police will not take strong action, the people should raise a clamor until they do.

Teen-Agers Speak Out

Good, Strict Teacher No Fun but It Pays

Jail-Guard, or Friend

—It's Up to Student

The reasonably strict teacher is the best teacher, say Victoria teen-agers.

But, says Nikki Chaston, 18,

Oak Bay high school, whose statement represents the majority view of two dozen teenagers writing to The Daily

Colonist: "There are some very poor teachers."

They reap a lot of criticism from their pupils.

"The poorer teachers mean well," says Miss Chaston.

"But they really shouldn't be teaching, because how are we to learn if they don't teach us properly."

She says teachers should be "almost perfect," because they are "one of the most important peoples of today—if there were no teachers, there would be no doctors, lawyers, businessmen."

Some teachers work only to earn their salary, says Pat

Scurrah, 17, Victoria high school. Others work hard and appear strict, but these are the ones who are generally better liked, "rather than the teacher who babys his class or ignores mistakes or lets students run the class room."

"You've probably heard students say, 'Boy, he's sure strict, but he's a darn good teacher. If it hadn't been for his teaching, I'd never have passed. This strict-teaching appears harsh but I know from experience that strict teaching and class discipline

sure pays off."

Teachers have to be strict,

she says, "or they get stepped on, mostly by their faithful pupils." Her biggest problem is that during the past year,

"the only teachers I really liked and got along with were two young ones.

"Why do high school teachers usually have to be practically ancient before the general public accepts them as suitable to handle teenagers?"

One girl agrees that most teachers are good, but claims that many students "are being put through grades when they don't know the course because some teachers just don't put their best foot forward and teach all—some of these are smart but cannot put the subject across.

Teachers and pupils would get along much better if they treated each other as equals, says Anne Frankham, 16, Victoria high school. And teachers must make students realize it is the student who will suffer if he fails, not the teacher."

In college, says Rita Leong,

19, "students are treated more like adults." She noticed a

"take the time to meet teachers out of class—they're all very nice people."

Deanna Pizag, 17, Victoria

high school, says that when she had "a good teacher, I made wonderful grades, but when I got a teacher who didn't seem to care, I failed

my course.

However, she thinks teachers should show "a little more understanding" about their student's personal problems.

Donna Cranton, 17, Victoria high school, goes further with the statement that the "most I ever learned was from a teacher I was scared of all year. She may have been a little drastic but she was a wonderful teacher."

Garden Notes

Garden Produce —Keep It Coming

By M. V. CHESNUT, F.R.H.S.

Because of the several hot spells we have enjoyed most of the vegetables are maturing a bit earlier than usual this year, and this may cause a gap in the succession—a period in which there is nothing coming to the table from the garden. It is a good idea, therefore, to get out there and make with the seeds in order to keep the vegetable patch on a continuous production line.

There are lots of quick-growing things which can be sown now. Radishes, leaf lettuce and head lettuce come to mind immediately. Onion sets for the production of green onions for salads can go in any time. If you can't find any onion sets in the seed stores, keep your eyes open for those little white Silverskin pickling onions at the grocer's—they make fine green onions. Plant them with their noses sticking out of the ground.

SPINACH, CRESS

Prickly-seeded spinach, mustard spinach, and cress can all go in now, and there is still time to sow beet seeds for a crop of golf-ball-sized baby beets for pickling or for a special treat for your table. In our family we keep on making sowings of the short stumpy kinds of carrots right up to Labor Day, and pull the last of the baby carrots for our Christmas dinner.

Still another subject which may be sown now is the Welsh perennial onion. This kind never makes a bulb at all, but grows as a

Vancouver Firm Goes Bankrupt

VANCOUVER (CP)—Control of Restmore-Madsen, Ltd., large Western Canada furniture manufacturing company, was turned over Tuesday to a trustee in bankruptcy.

A committee of creditors was elected to look after the affairs of the firm.

Jack Turvey, comptroller, said the action "was due to not being able to get proper management and lack of working capital. Since we were not able to supply this, we decided it was easier to turn the business over to the creditors."

Restmore-Madsen is a merger of Restmore Manufacturing Co. Ltd. and A. P. Madsen, Ltd. It was bought about two years ago by the Maxwell group, who took over management.

Steel Strike Delayed Span

Recent U.S. steel strike has delayed construction of a 1,000-foot bridge on the Trans-Canada highway near Revelstoke by at least three months, highway department officials said yesterday.

Several other small bridges throughout the province will be delayed until adequate supplies of steel reach the province.

Poor Supervision

"I feel the higher-ups among the inspectors don't realize the poor supervision we are being given," she says.

Another girl protests against teachers' rules, such as a ban on boys and girls talking in hallways, which she calls "the stupidest form of

'democratic freedom' I know."

Some teachers spend too much time on discipline, says

Joe Haegert, 17, Victoria College. He adds: "Obviously the interest has flown away—ef-fectly expended there would be more profitable."

Some teachers are "always grumbling or are thinking that teaching is just another easy job," says Tom Bourne,

16, Victoria high school.

NIAGARA FALLS—Mayor E. M. Hawkins says he is not prepared to accept a challenge to a polka-dancing contest, Indian wrestling or a 100-yard dash issued by Mayor Harry Wiener of Medicine Hat, Alta., to settle which city has the better safety record.

FT. DEVENS, Mass.—Col. Walter C. Heinel, a 54-year-old career officer, was dismissed from the army on charges of "free-loading" and attempting to induce a young blonde half his age away from her husband.

East Indians Hurt

Winch Queries Immigration Color Barrier

Commons Support Sought

Plea for equal immigration rights for East Indians was renewed last night by Kuldeep Singh Bains of Victoria, secretary of the East Indian Canadian Citizens' Welfare Association.

He sent wires to all B.C. members of parliament urging them to take the side of the East Indians during the current debate in parliament on estimates of the Immigration department.

"We respectfully request you to urge the minister of citizenship and immigration, Hon. J. W. Pickersgill, to allow entry into Canada of the close relatives of Canadian citizens of East Indian origin on the same basis and the same classes of people as from Europe, the Middle East and Latin America," the wire said in part.

A delegation went to Ottawa last month to make a personal request for changes in immigration regulations.

Winch said Tuesday night he sometimes thinks "there must be a color prejudice somewhere" in the immigration department.

The CCF member for Vancouver East said in the Commons he cannot understand why there should be discrimination against Canadian citizens of East Indian origin.

Mr. Winch said most East Indians in Canada, all of whom originally were British subjects and now are Canadian citizens, came from the Punjab. They should be treated on the same basis as other British subjects in the bringing of relatives to live with them in Canada.

There was something wrong with the attitude of the immigration department in its outright refusal to allow a childless East Indian in Vancouver to bring a nephew to Canada as his adopted son, so he could pass on his prosperous business. This person, a Canadian citizen, had lived in Canada for 48 years.

Mr. Winch also dealt with the problems of Chinese.

He referred to the department's refusal to allow a Chinese Canadian-born and brought up in New Westminster — to bring a Chinese girl from Hong Kong to marry him.

The department had said "no" even after Mr. Winch gave his personal guarantee and offered to post a bond that the girl would not be let out of the immigration shed in Vancouver until she married the young Canadian.

The result was that the young Chinese Canadian was forced to go to Hong Kong to marry her there and bring her back home as his wife.

Women Protest Decision

Women citizens of the Indian state of Maharashtra raise banners as they parade in front of Parliament House in protest to the non-inclusion of Bombay and other Marathi-speaking areas within the state of Maharashtra. The states reorganization bill is one of the most hotly contested bills now before the Indian parliament. (CPC).

Utilities Controlled

Profits, Charges Concern of PUC

One of the duties of the Public Utilities Commission is to see that the public utility companies of B.C. make "the right profit, but only just," Dr. H. F. Angus, PUC chairman, said yesterday.

Addressing the Kiwanis Club of Victoria, Dr. Angus said the PUC functions to see that utilities' profits are adequate and charges are fair.

Another is to grant approval for new utility construction. Creation of new enterprises and extension of existing ones, he said, require approval from the commission.

"If you wanted to be buried in your own garden, you would need such a certificate and would have to apply to us for it. You wouldn't get one."

In the rate-regulating phase of its work, Dr. Angus said, the PUC tries "to fix prices to suit buyer and seller alike, and that's almost impossible."

If the commission receives an application for a change in rates, it can hold a public hearing if it thinks it to be in the public interest, he said.

In its deliberations on rates, he said, the PUC believes that a utility should get enough to give a reasonable return on its investment. Final test, he said, is the market—"Can the utility, when it needs new capital, obtain it on reasonable terms?"

If the PUC makes a mistake in law, Dr. Angus said, any interested party can go to a court of appeal. If it makes a policy mistake, a decision out of tune with the general wishes of the community, an appeal can be made to the cabinet.

Subject to these provisions, the commission is independent. It is not subject to political instructions in advance of decisions, he said.

The commission can act fearlessly, he said, knowing that any error of law can be corrected speedily by a court of appeal and that correctives can be applied to errors of policy "by an authority that does not enjoy an assured 10 years in office," as members of the commission do.

'Sailor-for-a-Day' Lists Rapidly Being Filled

At last count there were fewer than 100 vacancies for boys between 10 and 16 who want to be "sailors for a day" on Aug. 15 and cruise with the RCN.

The Daily Colonist is sponsoring a group of 700, to board naval vessels in the inner harbor at 11:30 a.m. Navy Day. But unless boys have forwarded the application form published here, with the requisite signature of a serving sailor and of parent or guardian, they cannot be accepted for the trip.

Boys should bring a luncheon with them.

Baby Wallaby Not at Home To Visitors

VANCOUVER (CP)—Joey, the baby wallaby in the Stanley Park zoo, is not at home to visitors, says curator Alan Best.

In fact, he is seldom home to Mr. Best.

"We don't even know when it was born," the curator said Tuesday. "The baby wallaby is about the size of a broad bean at birth."

Hugh R. Wrigley, Australian trade commissioner whose office arranged to have the mother mammal presented to the zoo, says: "They are about an inch in length when born and are naked and ugly." They stay well within the mother's pouch until they get a few coverings.

Pensions as a 'Right'

DOMINION Health Minister Martin has given the House of Commons a flimsy excuse for lack of action in the matter of paying old-age pensions to eligible citizens who for one reason or another move away from Canada. The federal government, he said, had "given thought" to negotiating reciprocal arrangements with the United Kingdom and the United States, but there were "great difficulties" caused by differences in the various schemes.

What on earth has reciprocity got to do with entitlement to a pension which a person earns by living in Canada for the prescribed period and paying taxes into the government's contributory pension scheme? Lack of reciprocal arrangements does not stand in the way of the British government continuing the pensions of aged people and war veterans who leave the British Isles to take up temporary or even permanent residence elsewhere, and it is hard to understand why the Canadian government should find that factor an insurmountable stumbling block.

In introducing the universal old-age pension system some years back the Dominion government made much of its assertion that the pension thus became the right of everyone on attaining the qualifying age. But it isn't a right at all if it is arbitrarily cut off when a pensioner leaves the country. For many elderly people severing connection with Canada on reaching retirement age is not a matter of choice but of dire necessity. At $40 a month the federal pension is insufficient nowadays to maintain bare existence, and many old people have to go to live with their children in the United States or elsewhere. A few also have to leave for health reasons.

Even where absolute necessity is not the reason for absence it is cruel to cut off the pension of lonely old people for no other cause than that they spend more than the brief allowable period visiting relatives or friends beyond Canadian borders; not only cruel but inexcusable under a scheme which proclaims the pension to be a right. The Dominion does not need to enter into any complicated arrangement with other countries in order to fulfill its simple obligation.

New Formula for Speeders

MAGISTRATE Beevor-Potts, whose court in Nanaimo is distinguished by a down-to-earth attitude towards offences against the law, has introduced a rule-of-thumb method of determining fines for speeding. His worship will graduate fines upward at the rate of $1 for each additional mile per hour, after making allowance in favor of the accused for the first five miles above the legal limit. On that basis the first offender to be dealt with under the new way of assessing penalty was fined $10 for driving at 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone.

This is a formula which has been used fairly extensively in other parts of the continent, but has rarely been applied in British Columbia. Presumably it will be used by Mr. Beevor-Potts to fix fines in simple cases of speeding in which there are neither aggravating nor extenuating circumstances. As a deterrent to dangerous speeding it appears to be an improvement over the method adopted by some courts of imposing a more or less set fine for exceeding the legal limit, regardless of the size of the margin.

The question is whether the Nanaimo magistrate's dollar-a-mile rise in the fine is severe enough. A speed of 95 miles an hour—not uncommon on the highway on either side of Nanaimo—is infinitely more dangerous than, say, 65 miles an hour; yet the fine would be only $30 higher. At $40, also, the punishment for driving at the potentially lethal speed of 95 miles an hour seems disproportionate to the gravity of the offence. Any motorist crazy enough to drive at 95 miles an hour on a two-lane highway deserves punishment that will really hurt; and to the man who can afford a car that will travel at that speed $40 is a negligible fine.

An appropriate variation of the formula, which should commend itself to other police courts in the province, might be a more steeply ascending scale: say, $1 a mile for the first ten, $2.50 for the next ten, and $5 for every mile above that. Then a driver convicted of speeding at 95 miles an hour would be subject to a fine of $135, which seems more in keeping with the seriousness of his offence.

On the Way Up

THE better an army battalion commander the more sure it is that in due course the battalion will lose him as he moves on to other important commands. Such is the case with Lieut-Col. W. H. V. Matthews, who commands the Queen's Own at the Gordon Head camp. This well-known Vancouver Island soldier, now in the prime of military vigor and years, is slated to take over the post of chief instructor at the Camp Borden school of infantry at the end of this month. His unit will be no more sorry to see him go than Victoria at large. Since he brought his battalion here from Korea a year ago both he and his men have commanded wide admiration.

A unit takes its cue from its commanding officer; if the latter is smart and soldierly so are his men. The 2nd Battalion of the Queen's Own Rifles have impressed everyone with their fine military spirit and performance, and undoubtedly this is a tribute to Colonel Matthews himself. Reeret at his departure is tempered only by knowledge that he is likely to fit into the Canadian Army's plans for more senior appointments, and his many friends here will wish him well in his new post. Additional regret will ensue if as rumored the Queen's Own also leave Gordon Head later in the year for another camp. It would be a fine thing if the defence department could be persuaded to leave them here.

The Russians at Vancouver

AN unusual sporting attraction will be staged at Vancouver on Saturday which undoubtedly will be attended by many Victorians—the soccer game between the Moscow Lokomotivs and a B.C. all-star team. This is the first time that a Russian team of any kind has visited Canada and spectators will go to the game full of curiosity as well as in anticipation of watching an artistic display of football. Russia is one of the leading soccer nations of the world and the Lokomotivs are reported to be one of their strongest club teams. As the game at Montreal indicates Russian sports authorities have not sent a second-rate team on tour.

Altogether the Moscow eleven will play five games in Canada, including one at Winnipeg this evening. Ideology and racial memories have intruded on the prairie to cause special precautions to be taken because of the large Ukrainian settlements there. Nothing of that kind is expected at the west coast. In all likelihood the Lokomotivs will receive a rousing reception when they step on to the Empire Stadium field. This is as it should be. The Moscow team has not come to Canada to woo us to communism but to demonstrate how well they play soccer. And at the moment they are among the masters at the game.

Easing Their Grip

By CHARLES M. McCANN

POLAND'S Red rulers have taken a new step in the retreat of the Communist world from Stalinism.

The Polish Communist party has announced that in future it will act as a political party instead of exerting direct rule over the government.

Communists, of course, will still rule the country.

Nevertheless, the move appears to be an important one. It is a further recognition of the fact that Russia's downgrading of Josef Stalin has got out of hand and that absolute Communist dictatorship of the satellites must be downgraded also.

Also, the official divorce of the Communist party from the government keeps Poland, Russia's largest and most important satellite, well in the lead in the loosening-up of Red rule.

It is further recognition, too, of the shock which the Poznan riots of June 28 gave the Communist world. This shock has resulted in important concessions to the people not only in Poland but in other satellites.

There have been other developments which have shown the new trend in Communist countries.

Czechoslovak Premier Viliam Siroky asked his parliament to approve legislation giving more authority in administration to Slovak authorities.

Siroky said the legislation would "improve the relations between the two nations." Under the constitution, proclaimed in 1948, Czechoslovakia is "a unitary state of two Slav nations, the Czechs and the Slovaks, possessing equal rights." It always has been a complaint of the Slovaks, since Czechoslovakia became a nation in 1918, that the Czechs ran the country.

There was a new de-Stalinization development in Hungary also. Premier Andras Hegedues said in parliament that the government intends to give the people a better standard of living and more liberty.

All this, it must be repeated, does not mean that there is going to be a retreat in the satellites from Communist dictatorship as well as from Stalinism. But it does seem to mean that the Reds feel they must loosen their grip to some extent.

"Now we'll see which shaves the best—the electric razor or the old-fashioned cut-throat."

Thinking Aloud Letter from London

"... of shoes—and ships—and scaling wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

ONE peculiarity of the court-martial of the United States Marine sergeant who night-marched six recruits to their deaths, was that the court ignored high Marine opinion. Six out of the seven-man court-martial were Marines, but they paid no heed to their superiors' views.

The Marine Corps commandant said all he would do to the sergeant was demote him one stripe, while a former commandant roared his approval of the sergeant's tough disciplinary methods.

The court-martial, however, gave him nine months hard labor and ordered him discharged from the Marines.

This case has aroused wide attention, focussed on the "boot" (recruit) training program of the United States Marines. Nothing, it appears, could be more severe.

The Marines of course are America's elite formation, and fierce jealous pride of corps induces the most rigorous routines. Whereas in Canada and in Britain numerous crack army units vie for acclaim it is the Marines who capture public imagination across the line.

And to be a U.S. Marine a "boot" must first go through the mill. It grinds relentlessly, too.

If you saw the film "From Here to Eternity" you would recognize this; Frank Sinatra must have been glad it was only a motion picture he was in. The astringent attributed to Marine drill instructors was astounding.

This was admittedly a movie but whatever else Hollywood may do it never maligns the armed services of the U.S.A. It could scarcely portray brutality in a recruit camp if such never took place. One deep impression this picture left was that few officers seemed to have any supervisory part in the training of recruits. Everything was left entirely in the hands of the N.C.O.s.

Top-notch soldiers or marines are not turned out without rigid and exacting preparation. I can remember in my own ancient era some R.S.M.'s who would have crimed their own grandmothers, but even in those days, when there was less respect for the feelings of recruits than now, no studied program of training oppression would have been permitted.

It is difficult to imagine Frank Sinatra's film experience being duplicated in reality at the Gordon Head camp, for instance. Yet with some warrant we consider that the Queen's Own in action can be as daunting as any unit anywhere.

There is a paradox about American military operation. The U.S.A. is probably the freest democracy of all in many ways, but apparently absolutism is given its head in its Marine corps, and also in its army provost corps. These seem to be far more strictly stern, even to the point of harshness, than ever is the case among our own forces.

Different countries different methods, of course. It is true as the picturesque former Marine commandant said at the court-martial, that good troops are not made out of ice cream. The probability is also that once a man is through "boot" camp, harrowing though it may have been, he gives it his blessing.

When he graduates as a Marine he is a stronger, more efficient fighting man by far than when he joined up. And even sadism on the parade ground can be laughed off when it is past history.

It would seem however that there should be limits even to military discipline.

The Silliest Strike in History

By RICHARD L. THOMAS, Daily Colonist Correspondent

QUITE the silliest strike in British history has developed at the various plants of the British Motor Corporation and extended to Ford at Dagenham. There is no conventional industrial dispute. It is just the fact that because trade is slack workers have been put off and our enlightened trades unionists have got the idea that the best way to stop it is to stop those working who can. After four days' strike every-one went on holiday for a fortnight—officially.

The strike is officially a protest. It has not the support of the majority of the members of the trade unions involved and the early days of the strike found up to 70 per cent of the men working. The unions improved their position by violence and sanctions. The violence was quickly stopped by the police. The sanctions are likely to disrupt the unions for weeks and maybe years to come.

The idea is that any man who works will be fined—double his pay is the suggested formula—and if he continues to work after warning he will be expelled from the union with the hope of preventing him getting a job in the future. These sanctions frightened some men who were working into joining the strikers.

It is something entirely new in industrial experience to meet a temporary depression and laying off of staff with a strike. If it was not for the principle of the thing it is fairly certain that the British Motor Corporation would be pleased. They have huge stocks of vehicles and the cessation of production would help them to get these down. To that extent the strike is not very important.

The trades unions discovered this and immediately set about remedying the deficiency by dragging in other unions. The result was that some dockers refused to load BMC export orders onto ships.

This in turn is a political rather than an industrial move. Industrially the cease-work order ought to stop production but the fact that there is a big stockpile prevents any immediate impact, hence the efforts to stop exports.

It would be foolish to imagine that this strike is anything more than a political move. There is no principle involved—unless it is the right of an employer to dispense with labor. If that is granted then ipso facto employees must be prevented from withdrawing their own labor. That position is untenable—still more so inasmuch as every man laid off took with him a pay envelope worth on average $150 in the form of holiday pay, an extra week's notice and a gratuity. No one has yet heard of any employee presenting the boss with a gratuity when he walks out to take another job—but obviously we cannot afford to be logical in any political argument.

The real background to this strike is the credit squeeze. The 50 per cent deposit on cars has sapped the home market. The man who normally could raise the deposit from his bank finds the credit squeeze stopping him. The government idea is that by suffocating home consumption it will compel the motor makers to go in for more exports. The motor people are not quite happy about it with so many countries pushing on import restrictions but they were prepared to try and hoped to make some impact, especially in Canada and the United States, with new models. Whilst retooling, men had to be put off. If the export drive succeeds then most of them would have been wanted back.

But the labor movement, with a solid core of Communist industrial leadership, tackled it as a political issue. If there had been no credit squeeze the men would not have been sacked. As they have been sacked then obviously the export drive must be sabotaged and so, for a possible political advantage, a major British industry is to be severely wounded and thousands of men who would prefer to keep on working find themselves embroiled in a dispute which really does not interest them.

One man put it to me quite simply: "If I'm offered a better job I'll take it. The boss knows this and he does not mean about it. If he wants me to stay on, if he doesn't want me that much he'll let me go. Obviously he can't go on indefinitely employing me making things he can't sell. If I expect to shift to suit my convenience I can have no complaint if he shifts me to suit his convenience. It's as simple as that."

But that is common sense, not politics. Politics on the other hand demands that the sharply divided Labor Party should in some way get re-united. The idea is that a dispute will create unity. If the trades union leaders can create some sort of unity and injure the government it will have scored an undoubted political success. The tragedy is, that the country does not seem to matter.

Meanwhile the unity created consists of fellow trades unionists having a bash at each other if the police are not looking. The men who want to do an honest job for themselves and their country are being harassed by those who want a political advantage. It is not British. It is not cricket. It is alien to everything this country has stood for, but labor divided has let the Communists in and Communists see all politics in terms of anarchy. The pity is that moderate trades unionists cannot see that their divisions are being exploited not by the bloated capitalists but by the workers' "friend," the Communists.

The Packsack

By GREGORY CLARK

TWENTY-SEVEN years ago an old backwoods friend of mine bashed his finger while piling logs; and it has never healed.

Imagine being a martyr to a sore finger for 27 years! Winter, summer, it has pained and irritated him, the nail being damaged and the degree of the soreness changing with the seasons, sometimes almost unbearable in the depth of winter, often throbbing so that he could not sleep in summer.

He used every salve, liniment, lotion and elixir known to backwoods general stores. He sought out all the wisdom and folklore of the neighbors as to the proper treatment for such a bashed finger.

But year after year, each month dragging its tail into the next, my old friend suffered with that bashed finger. It affected his character, but not in the way you might suppose. He did not become irritable and crabbed, as many invalids in the small way do. He became nobler with each year. He was in his thirties when he suffered the injury. Now in his sixties, he looks and acts like a true martyr. He has a lean and saintly look. He is complete with the patience for which backwoods people are noted, and his is the patience of Job.

This summer, he was acting as guide to a young doctor. He had met doctors before, though he consulted them with reservations. He has always felt that doctors were for city people, as were dentists, hairdressers and interior decorators.

When the young physician enquired about the bandaged finger, the bandage yellow with the latest ointment, he was shocked to learn the history of the injury. He examined it. He made my old friend wash his hands at once in plain soap and water, dry them, and then let the air and sun at the ancient sore. Not a salve, not a liniment, not a rag would he permit near the finger for the entire week he was with my old friend.

And at the end of the week, the finger showed decisive signs of healing. That was six weeks ago. I have just seen my old friend. His finger is now practically healed.

And what of his character? He is rapidly turning into the average cranky, ill-natured old man in his sixties. The look of the martyr is almost vanished from him. He is as mad as blazes to discover that for all these years all he had to do was let the fresh air cure what had cost him somewhere near $17 over the 27 years in salves, liniments, herbs and presents for old Indian women.

The Shoe Pinches

(From The Toronto Globe and Mail)

DEFENCE Production Minister Howe has suddenly become aware of the shortage of engineers and technicians in this country. Realization of that shortage dawned upon him when key personnel in his own department left for highly paid jobs in industry and could not be replaced.

This recognition is welcome news indeed, for as Mr. Howe goes, so goes the Dominion government. And that government is the only source which can provide the urgently needed leadership and money to tackle the problem.

If Mr. Howe is concerned about the lack of engineers and technicians—as he cannot help but be—let him propose to the government which he dominates that it study the causes and provide the finances to correct them. And let him admit that if that government had done its job properly when the shortage first became apparent, there would be no shortage today.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

Many are the suggestions for little games the children may play while travelling, but what's wrong with the old favorite: driving Dad nuts?

There'll be no real equality of the sexes as long as it's socially acceptable for women to slip their feet out of tight shoes, but not for men.

A small boy was asked to write what he had been taught about the human body. This was the result: "Our body is divided into three parts, the brain, the borax and abdominal cavity. The brain contains the brain. The borax contains the lungs, lights and heart. The abdominal cavity contains the bowels of which there are five: a, e, i, o and y."

For winning friends, a charming personality rates nowhere near as high as an expense account.

Letters to the Editor

Knife in the Back

When the last of the British fighting units left Suez in April and the final departure of administrative details took place in June, The London Daily Mail commented:

"The army is leaving by the will of the British government and not because it has been thrown out. This is the end of an assignment and not a retreat 'without the sound of martial note, with banners furled'. . . Yet the manner of the evacuation will be such as to give exactly that impression. . . It will be hailed as another victory over 'the colonialist exploiters'—the same old lies: the same sort of mud thrown at the fair name of our country. We almost deserve it because we take so little trouble to defend our own reputation."

And when the Rt. Hon. Paul Williams, M.P., asked in the House of Commons why it was that the British government continued regular payments of £20,000,000 to Egypt, despite the continuance of anti-British propaganda, it was explained that these payments were a release of sterling balances due to the Egyptian government for services rendered during World War II. This brought the following ironic editorial protest:

"We owe them this money because we saved Egypt from Hitler and Mussolini. Cairo did not hear a shot fired in anger because British soldiers died in the Western Desert to prevent it. In a sane world the Egyptians would be in our debt, not we in theirs. . . Our only reward is derision and contempt; a knife in the back."

Debate Stifled

According to news reports Mr. Bennett has instructed his supporters not to debate with their critics. What is the matter with Sacred policy that it and its supporters cannot face full, open criticism and discussion?

Just about a century ago in his "Essay on Liberty," John Stuart Mill wrote, "Complete liberty of contradicting and disproving our opinion is the very condition which justifies us in assuming its truth for purposes of action; and on no other terms can a being with human faculties have any rational assurance of being right."

Perhaps Mr. Bennett's dislike of opposition and criticism reveals his recognition that there is no rational assurance that he and his policies are right.

Orchids To 'Smiles'

We of Victoria have allowed the tourist to seek out and acclaim one of our own most entertaining summer attractions, "The Jerry Gosley Smile Show," currently running at the Langham Court Theatre. Not enough has been said in praise of this appealing and quite professional presentation in the field of "variety."

In a three-hour-long show not a moment lags or fails to entertain, while laughter and appreciation are evoked without effort. One is aware of something intangible but important in the sincerity and wholesome simplicity that characterizes the whole cast.

When it is realized that this modest, serious and gifted producer has persevered through the "cultural doldrums" that hold Victoria fiercely in thrall, to the point where a six-week run of the Smile Show appears to be a sell-out, one knows, with a certain optimism, that Victoria has begun to recognize something of her very own that is wholesome, hilarious, and satisfying in entertainment.

Business Failures

Fewer in B.C.

Business failures, increasing in most parts of Canada, are on the decline in B.C., Premier Bennett says.

Statistics show that during the first quarter of this year business failures increased from 475 to 572 in Quebec, from 122 to 145 in Ontario, but declined from 20 to 14 in B.C., he said.

"It all goes to show that the expansion and prosperity in B.C. is spreading throughout the business world in the province," said the premier.

Priests Launch Attack

Quebec Voting Corruption Hit

QUEBEC (CP)—Two prominent Laval University professors, both Roman Catholic priests have published a sweeping attack on election practices in Quebec.

In a 4,000-word article appearing last month in "Ad Usum," a mimeographed journal of the Sacerdotum, the priests recommended formation of a "public morality league" independent of all existing or future political parties to educate the people of Quebec in civic morality.

Discussing the clergy's blame for the situation, the two priests said: "We are reaping what we have sown. Our sermons about morality, our morality campaigns have been aimed principally at sexual immorality, intemperance and blasphemy."

While it might not be the role of priests to be spokesmen in their proposed "public morality league," they said the clergy had the "heavy responsibility of integrity, our morality campaigns have been aimed principally at sexual immorality, intemperance and blasphemy."

Young Cypriots Die Tomorrow

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters).—Three Greek Cypriot youths under sentence of death for terrorism have been told by the prison governor that they will be hanged at dawn Thursday, according to Greek Cypriot sources.

A statement Tuesday said Cyprus Governor Sir John Harding confirmed the death sentences. Prisoners in Nicosia's Central Prison, where the three men are held, greeted the news with a noisy demonstration in favor of the EOKA terrorist organization.

In another outbreak of violence on the island Tuesday, a time bomb exploded in a yard next to a generator at an air force installation at Akrotiri. There were no casualties.

Two of the doomed men, Andreas Zakos, 25, and Charilaos "aged and ailing."

Zakos appealed to EOKA from his death cell last Saturday for the life of John Cremer, a 75-year-old Briton seized as hostage for the three condemned men. Cremer was released on Saturday night because, EOKA said, he was "aged and ailing."

PANEL 5: I CAN HELP SMOOTH EDGES. NOW, SIR—WE HAVE A DEAL.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW? THIS DAISY CLAIMS SHE LOVES ME! YOU HAVE ANY THEORIES ABOUT FLOWERS AS FORTUNE-TELLERS, EVE?

AND I HAVEN'T EVEN ANY THEORIES ABOUT EVE...

...EXCEPT THAT SHE'S ANFULLY YOUNG, TERRIBLY CONFUSED... AND VERY GLAD SHE'S WITH YOU!

MEANWHILE, BACK IN TOWN —

BUT WHAT DID I DO TO GET YOU SO SORRY, LARRY? LARRY—SHALL I CALL YOU TONIGHT?

DON'T CALL US— WE'LL CALL YOU!

What would you lead with, West's hand?

"There is a bridge maxim, 'Never fool your partner,' which is as untrue as any generality. In bridge, occasions arise when you can help him best by misleading him. This deal, slightly revised from one discussed in The Bridge World Magazine, illustrates the exceptional case.

The bidding makes it reasonably clear to West that his side cannot expect to win more than a single heart trick; perhaps none at all East must mouth with the king. There was obviously no profit to continuing hearts and the imperative shift to clubs was apparent. It remained only for East to choose the right club—the jack or the nine; preferably the jack. In the event that West held only three including ace-queen—ten or ace-king-ten. The club shift permits the defenders to cash their three tricks in that suit and set the hand before declarer can get the lead.

Suppose West had opened the king of hearts; would East have

In the years to come Garibaldi park on the lower mainland, north of Vancouver, will become more popular than Jasper, according to Premier Bennett.

"And that's not detracting from Jasper at all," he said.

The premier confirmed a statement by federal Re Minister Jean Lesage that provincial government is considering developing Garibaldi park as a recreation area.

He said the development would be "extensive" but feel that "these parks sh have the ace of hearts or, failing that, a diamond or a trump trick; in addition, the defenders must be able to win several tricks in clubs. Therefore, it is West's aim to make sure his partner wins the first heart trick if he has the ace, and also that he does not return hearts, but makes the obvious shift to clubs.

To accomplish this, West led the queen of hearts; East overtook with the ace and marked seen the need to return a very first heart in order to return a club? or would he have waited to get a second heart trick? If the latter, there would have been no way to stop South from making five odd.

WINNING POINTS:

Sometimes fooling your partner is the best way to help him make the winning play.

King Fishermen

Hefty Catch Takes Lead In Contest's Coho Division

There is a new leader in the coho division of the Daily Colonist King Fisherman contest. A nine-pound, 12-ounce coho caught by Emil Baranov of the Colist King Fisherman contest.

He is Marcel Boutin of 4021 Carey road, who boated a 12½-pound silver while fishing off the Stone House in Saanich inlet on Saturday. He made his catch on a Peetz Hookum spoon and weighed it in at Hat's Boathouse.

It is one of the largest coho caught in Saanich inlet in the past two or three years, and unusually large for this time of the year.

Largest previous coho entered was a nine-pound, 12-ounce coho caught by Emil Baranov of the Colist King Fisherman contest.

Meanwhile entries for the King Fisherman contest have been flooding into the contest's office. Fishing has been good from Victoria to Campbell River and with the holiday season at its peak, boathouses have been kept busy filling out forms.

The number of entries could not be calculated last night but at least 300 entries have been received so far this week, and it appears certain that last year's total of 2,000 fish will be surpassed by the end of next week.

Some of the entries received this week:

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER

Russian Bad Faith at Fault, Eisenhower Tells Bulganin

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—President Eisenhower Tuesday bluntly informed Russia that he attributed many of the world's troubles to her bad faith in recent international agreements.

In an unusually strongly-worded letter to Soviet Prime Minister national tensions were interpreted as a probable plank of the Republican platform.

In the letter, Eisenhower challenged Bulganin to "do more to realize the hopes" born at the Geneva conference, especially to keep pledges about German unification "which desperately need to be fulfilled."

In that connection, the president already carried out by the United States since the Second World War.

For a number of reasons, Eisenhower's letter was regarded as particularly significant.

The firm stand taken by the president in placing the blame on Russia for failure to reduce international tensions were interpreted as a probable plank of the Republican platform.

AT THE 19th With Harry Young

Smothered with the good wishes of his Victoria golfing friends, Bob Fleming left Tuesday on the first hop of his long journey to Edmonton, New Brunswick, to take part in the Canadian Amateur Championship.

The Canadian Amateur is the chief Canadian competition Fleming has not yet managed to annex, and on his present form, and even against the U.S. cracks, he must be rated to have more than an outside chance. Indeed the Edmonton course with its tight boundaries, on the left-hand side is likely to be well suited to Fleming's play, and, with reasonable luck in the 18-hole match rounds, he could be a real contender.

Fleming expects to have four practices before the qualifying rounds on Monday and Tuesday. For Bob, mere qualifying is not enough. The scores he puts in count for the Willingdon Cup and he is a member of the B.C. team which has won the trophy for the past two years.

OLD STAGERS TAKE OVER: There's a notice in the Victoria club locker room which starts "Old golfers never die." When the Northwest Seniors play their annual visit to the Oak Bay links next week they will go a long way towards proving it.

In the 195 entries received by Secretary A. V. Macan are two 87s, Rev. W. G. Wilson and C. A. Thompson, both of the Uplands club. A year younger are Joshua Green and Dwight Merrill, both of Seattle. They play in the AA (oldest) age group.

Both Green and Merrill took part in the first seniors' tournament held in 1923, and they have been at it more or less ever since. Green likes the competition so much that he has donated three cups to the subcommittee of Old Golfers' Silverware.

Most of the well-known names among older golfers of the Pacific Northwest are among the entries.

Ralph Whaley of Broadmoor, Seattle, eight times a winner, will be attempting to add to his skin.

Fifty-year-old Peter McIntyre of Trail-Rossland, who won it last year in his inaugural year, is to be on the spot to defend his title, as will Dr. O. W. Welling of Portland, Waverley, a former U.S. Walker Cup golfer, who won in 1954 and Roger Peck, Tacoma, winner in 1952.

Other notables are Ed. Eisenhower, Tacoma lawyer and brother of the U.S. president, who has been a near winner on several occasions, and the luckless Harry Andrews, also of Tacoma who has been a losing finalist twice.

A popular candidate is Roy Campbell, the Seattle club member who is of the distinguished band of golfers who have shot a round in under their own age. He did the Seattle Golf and Country Club circuit — and a tough one, too — in 68 on his 69th birthday.

Among the lower handicap newcomers are George Sullivan (5), and L. Lind (7), both of the Waverley Club in Portland.

Jim Barry was the winner of the Victoria Club's par competition Saturday when he finished three up. Joint runners-up were Bill Leach and Harry Newton (2 up). Other prizewinners were Cliff Horwood and Allick MacKenzie (one up).

Art Donaldson, the Gorge Vale member who is applying for amateur reinstatement, shot a smart 68 over the Victoria course Sunday. His brother, Harry, played in the Rossland-Trail Open and finished runner-up for the low net award. Open winner was Buddy Loftus of Calgary with a one-under-par 143 for 36 holes. Lyle Crawford, the Lingara pro, was second, four shots behind.

Royal Colwood club plays its return match with Rainier at Seattle Aug. 15-19.

Gorge Vale will have a new handicap champion this season. Roger Ross, last year's winner, was knocked out in the second round by Toad Garnet.

The Victoria club is in need of caddies for the Seniors' tournament next week. Apply to Phil Taylor, professional, for instructions.

Jack Lowery, the 20-year-old St. Catherine's player who recently became the new Ontario amateur champion, learned his golf through the junior golf development program sponsored by the Royal Canadian Golf Association.

To Play Here Monday

DICK YOUNG JIM BAXES
Smooth-working infielders Dick Young and Jim Baxes are slated to see action at Royal Athletic park next Monday when Portland Beavers meet Vancouver Mounties in a Pacific Coast League exhibition game. Young, who played with Philadelphia Phillies last season, handles second base for the Beavers, and Baxes takes care of third-base duties for Portland. All proceeds from Monday's game go to aid the Victoria Cancer Fund.

Hooper Starts for Mounties In Benefit Clash with Bevos

Lefty O'Doul, manager of the Vancouver Mounties and one of baseball's most colorful figures, has named veteran right-hander Bob Hooper as his starting pitcher for Monday night's Victoria Cancer Fund exhibition game against Portland Beavers at Royal Athletic park.

Hooper, who has a 1-1 record, had a seven-year stay in the American League with Philadelphia Athletics and the Cleveland Indians.

Hooper's lineup for the benefit game in which all proceeds will go to the Victoria Cancer Fund, will be known until Friday. How the Vancouver backstop duo, in 38 games with Philadelphia Phillies, will be shared by Len Neal and Les last season, will probably start husky John Romano, Chicago White Sox, at first base; Harry Jacobs will be at second base; and Freddy Marsh Hooper, 35-year-old knuckle ball will start at the shortstop position.

Victoria Tire Takes Colt League Playoff

NATIONAL LITTLE LEAGUE (Final)
Odd Fellows 4 W 5 L 10 G 10
Rotary 4 W 5 L 10 G 10
Gyro 4 W 5 L 10 G 10
North Kiwanis 4 W 5 L 10 G 10

Last night's score: Odd Fellows 9, North Kiwanis 4.
Next game: Friday, Gyros vs. Odd Fellows. Little League park, 8:30.

Victoria Tire snuffed out a rally by Pacific Sheet Furnaces in the final inning last night to win the Colt League baseball knockout competition and the Art Cornish Memorial Trophy by gaining a 12-11 triumph at Windsor park.

Holding a 12-1 edge after four innings, the Tiremen almost blew the lead. Pacific Sheet scored seven runs in the top of the sixth and Pat Murphy pulled his club to within one run in the seventh by smashing a three-run homer.

Barry Williams, the league's batting champion with a .458 average, followed with a single and stole second, but Alan Graham struck out Dick Murphy to end the game.

Dowells were presented with the George Gosmark Memorial Trophy for winning the league championship by president Al Collier.

THREE-WAY TIE
The National Little League battle for second-half honors was thrown into a three-way tie for first place last night when Odd Fellows bested North Kiwanis, 9-6, and the Kiwanis defaulted their final league game to Rotary.

First-half champion Odd Fellows, Rotary and Gyros are tied for first place with 8-4 records with Odd Fellows playing Gyros Friday night at 6:30 and the winner meeting Rotary Sunday at 1:30. If Rotary or Gyros win the playoff, a best-of-three final will be played against Odd Fellows to determine the National League champion.

Linescores:
Pacific Sheet 900 107 3-11 9 5
Victoria Tire 314 209 12-11 9 5

One-Year Sentence Suspended

A one-year suspended sentence was given Donald W. Bleaney, 832 Devonshire, for obtaining money by means of a worthless $35 cheque.

He was placed on a $500 good behavior bond in Saanich police court.

***

Earl S. Upton was fined $10 in city police court for operating a chimney-sweep business without a city trades licence.

***

Clarence J. Lynch, 847 Villance, said he had been given a push to start his car before he was involved in a collision at Bay and Blanshard July 28.

He pleaded guilty to careless driving and disobeying a stop sign and was fined $35 in city police court.

***

Clifford M. Graham, 840 Courtney, told city court he was a recent arrival and did not know anyone to take with him while learning to drive.

He pleaded guilty to learning to drive without being accompanied by an adult licence holder, and was fined $35 and an additional $25 for driving without liability insurance, as required by his licence.

***

A driver for Island taxi, Gladys Bessley, was fined $10 in city court when convicted of operating a taxi with an unsealed meter.

Defence counsel David Sloan sought dismissal on grounds that although a wire was loose from the meter, the seal was not broken.

He claimed there was no prosecution evidence as to what the chief constable deemed an advisable seal, a city by-law requirement.

Police testified a wire was found loose from the meter June 5 and the company notified to effect repair. The taxi involved was found to have been used three weeks later for two trips.

Sisters Take First Vows, Final Vows

Six sisters of St. Ann's took final vows and two their first vows in a ceremony at St. Ann's Academy this week.

Sister Mary Lynne (Rose Teterault of Terrace) and Sister Mary Marjorie (Patricia Donovan of Cloverdale) took first vows.

Taking final vows, after three years in sisterhood, were Sister Mary Josepha (Mary Ellen King of Winnipeg), Sister Mary Christina (Margaret Anderson of Virden, Man.), Sister Mary Maureen Theresa (Marion Noon of Victoria), Sister Mary Celine (Lorraine Lamarre of Sapperton), Sister Mary Donna (Donna McIntyre, Vancouver) and Sister Mary Christel (Margaret Pearce of Victoria).

Msr. Joseph Charbonneau, former Archbishop of Montreal and now chaplain at St. Ann's, said the low mass in the academy's chapel. Sermon was delivered by Father Richard Griffin, who attended St. Ann's school in Kamloops and is now an Oblate missionary, with headquarters at St. Augustine's, Vancouver.

3 "Easy-do" ideas

FROM Libby's

MARY HALE MARTIN

"Easy Savory Franks"

Brown as many frankfurters as you'll need (allow lots—these are good!) Pour on mixture of 1 tablespoon Libby's Mustard and 1/4 cup Libby's Catchup (this is enough sauce for 1 lb. of frank). Heat and serve in toasted rolls.

Wait! You taste how Libby's Mustard sparks the flavor of this recipe! Libby's Mustard is extra-tasty, but never biting. Buy it tomorrow. We promise you you'll find it excellent (or we'll refund DOUBLE your money).

"Tangy Seafood Sauce"

Chill together: 1 cup Libby's Catchup, 1/4 cup lemon juice, 4 tablespoons Worcestershire, dash of Worcestershire Sauce, Tabasco (hot pepper sauce) and salt to taste. Delicious with any fish cocktail—especially chilled shrimp! Or crabmeat!

N.B. Because Catchup is such an important ingredient in this recipe do be sure to use Libby's. It has an extra rich tomato flavor you'll really enjoy (we guarantee it—or we'll refund DOUBLE your money).

"Pineapple Paradise Pie"

Luscious-looking, luscious-tasting, and this easy! Cut marshmallows into fourths, mix with sweetened whipped cream (sugar and vanilla to taste). Fill baked pie shell with this mixture. Top with Libby's Pineapple Slices; garnish with toasted almonds, maraschino cherries and mint. You'll see! Libby's is the freshest-tasting pineapple you ever took from a can! Grown on Libby's own Hawaiian plantations, it's quick-packed when it's golden-ripe and sweet with juice.

Fear Cloaks Slaying Site As Two Held

STE. AGATHE DES MONTS, Que. (BUP)—Two men were in custody last night in connection with the slaying early Tuesday of a young man, Chailfoux, who met his death as he went to investigate a reported attempt to hijack a station wagon loaded with liquor.

The names of those being held were not disclosed.

Chailfoux's murder threw a cloak of mystery and fear around this carefree "capital" of the Laurentian mountains resort district, 10 miles north of Montreal.

The police officer died about 4 a.m. Detectives speculated that Chailfoux was killed by four of his own bullets as he tried to arrest two men on the scene of the reported hijacking. The gun was found on the scene of the crime and was being examined last night for fingerprints.

A Ste. Agathe police officer said "he answered the call to check on prowlers around the vehicle. He must have wrestled with them. One of them may have grabbed his gun and fired four times."

FATHER OF FIVE

Chailfoux, father of five, was able to drive the police car back to the station and report that he tried to arrest two men.

One of the men arrested was being held at St. Jerome the other at Ste. Agathe.

Adding to the mystery was the possibility that the murderer may have known that the station wagon was being used to transport a power line.

Police recalled that a baker, identified only as Lusier,

Victorian Gets New Navy Post

OTTAWA (CP)—Commodore Rupert Anthony Wright, 56, of Victoria and Ottawa will become naval controller and member of the naval board at headquarters here Aug. 15, the navy announced Tuesday.

Naval controller is a new post aimed at ensuring effective use of manpower, material and financial resources. Commodore Kenneth Lloyd Dyer, 40, of the C.S.S. has held the post temporarily. He will go to National Defence College, Kingston, Ont., this fall.

Capt. George A. Widdows, M. Ottawa director of naval organization has also been named deputy naval controller. Capt. Don McIsaac, 40, of Victoria and Ottawa, deputy supply officer in command has been appointed to the controller's staff as director of naval program control effective Aug. 13.

Redonda Island Battles Blaze

CAMPBELL RIVER — A brisk wind fanned a forest fire on Redonda Island, 19 miles east of here, last night while 40 men employed by Girdney's Logging fought to control it.

Three bulldozers were used by the firefighters. Company officials said the fire was burning about five miles from the camp, and that the camp was in no danger.

Leaky Cruiser Beached, Holed Towed to City

A 60-foot power cruiser from Seattle, beached intentionally in rough weather Monday night in the passage between Discovery and Chatham Islands, was refloated yesterday and towed to Victoria.

W. A. Barber, manager of McKay Cormack Ltd., estimated damage at $2,000, after the pleasure craft had been lifted on the ways here.

Aboard the cruiser Partridge were her skipper, Capt. T. D. Everts, a cook and nine guests including a nine-year-old boy.

The party was on a fishing trip to the north when rough water was encountered off Victoria, said Capt. Everts.

WATER GAINED

"The women told the men there was water up to the floor in the galley," he said. "We started the pump but couldn't keep up with the leak."

"The passengers were all seasick and I couldn't get into Victoria without getting into the trough of the sea," he said. "So I turned tail and went before the wind."

To save the craft from sinking in deep water, the captain beached her on rock between Discovery and Chatham Islands.

NANAIMO Vandals have kicked in doors and broken locks off the changing rooms at Girdney Road Park here. W. Turner, works foreman, told the Nanaimo park board Monday evening RCMP have been informed of this and will also be asked to investigate vandalism at the Centaph.

Legal Liquor True to Treaty

OTTAWA (BUP)—Citizenship Minister J. W. Pickersgill denied Tuesday that legalized sale of liquor to Indians was a violation of basic treaty protection of Canada's native population.

Legalizing the sale of intoxicants was a better observation of the protection clauses of the treaties, Mr. Pickersgill said.

When G. H. Castleden (CCF, Yorkton) quoted from the treaties under which the Queen guaranteed to "protect" the Indians from alcohol, the Newfoundlander minister said the protection was intended to be from "sudden" drunkenness.

He declared that Indians who had already gained the legal right to buy liquor had proved they could handle it as well as any other person, once they overcame the effects of the initial poverty.

The question of whether an Indian could hold his liquor as well as a white man, and what to do about bootlegging on reservations, produced lively comment in the Commons. The Indian Act amendments which were passed, were aimed at legalizing the sale of liquor to Indians if the Indian bands and provincial administrations agreed.

The bill also empowered Mr. Pickersgill to approve regulations affecting Indians which hitherto had to have the approval of the whole cabinet.

But liquor's effects on the life habits and pockets of Indians was the main topic of discussion.

Magistrate Lets Penalty Fit the Crime

NANAIMO — The Nanaimo magistrate's ruling that speeders will be assessed a dollar for each mile an hour they travel over the speed limit, with five miles an hour latitude given in every case, proved expensive yesterday for Odello Tovani, who was clocked at 82 miles an hour while racing to catch a ferry. He was assessed $27 and costs.

Another man who had a previous conviction for a similar offence, did not come under Magistrate Lionel Beaver-Potts' new code. He was fined $25 and was told he was lucky to get away with that.

LADYSMITH — There's a long waiting list for the additional 100 mailboxes installed recently in the lobby of the post office here. Carl Walker, postmaster, said yesterday.

Only way to meet the shortage of facilities is to build a new post office, he indicated, explaining that there is no more room in the existing building available for mailboxes.

Alberni Expanding

ALBERNI — Plans for the third subdivision to be opened by the city in the past 18 months were approved by council at this week's meeting.

The plans cover an area bounded by Second street, Cherry Creek road, the highway, and the northern limits of the city.

The subdivision will contain a park reserve equivalent in area to a city block, and 131 building lots each with an approximate frontage of 66 feet.

The park area designated in the plan is in a low-lying district of the proposed subdivision and will require fill before it can be developed.

NANAIMO — Rex William Van Druen, a Victoria minister, will be inducted into his first pastorage here Friday at Brechin United church. He will take charge of the Nanaimo suburban circuit which takes in Lantzville, Wellington and Brechin.

ALBERNI — District postal service director A. E. Chatter will recommend that Alberni will be awarded winners of the Ladysmith (Canadian Legion) salmon derby Sunday at Government dock at 1:30 p.m. by Clare Coles, Legion president.

Ray Hickman is co-chairman of the derby with Dick Reas. Ladysmith government wharf is the official weighing station. No fish transported by car will be eligible for entry. Sports gear only may be used in the contest. A fish must be weighed in by 1 p.m.

COURTENAY — Arden Road Improvement District has elected R. Downey as trustee replacing T. Nugent who declined reelection on account of business pressure. Other trustees include M. Fitzgerald, Jack McPhee, chairman and N. W. Spinks, secretary.

A D. Plant, applying for water service to land he is in process of subdividing, was told that he had just got in under the wire when council agreed to install a six-inch pipe alongside Glenade and Craig, charging the applicant only 50 per cent of the Craig Street line. It was pointed out that in a new subdivision below now in the process of being drawn up, those subdividing property will be charged 100 per cent of all services to the area.

Manslaughter Charged

PARKSVILLE — Frederick Peter Potapov of Nanaimo was released on $5,000 bail after being charged with manslaughter in Parksville police court in a case arising from an automobile accident on the Alberni highway near Parksville July 22.

The accident caused the death of Edward William Martin of Port Alberni. The case was adjourned until August 14 when preliminary hearing will take place at Parksville at 10:30 a.m.

Potapov appeared before Magistrate Thompson Hardin and was also charged with a driving offence which took place the evening before the fatal accident. He was fined $20 and $5 costs for exceeding the 30-mile an hour speed limit.

NANAIMO — A Nanaimo man appearing in police court for the fifth time within two years for being intoxicated in a public place was sent to jail for 30 days by Magistrate Lionel Beaver-Potts yesterday. He pleaded not guilty.

Frank James Johnson, who said that although he had been drinking "on and off" all day, he was suffering from the effects of being hit about the face and head by another man just before RCMP picked him up.

LADYSMITH — Canadian Legion Branch 171 annual picnic will be held at Ivy Green park here Aug. 18. Legion president Clare Cowles says branch membership is increasing steadily and now stands at 214.

COMOX — Fishing continues fair to good in this area with quite a number of visitors trying their luck. Largest fish caught Sunday was a 40-pound yellow taken by R. Pierce of Courtenay guided by Mrs. E. H. H. H.

COURTENAY — A $4147 contract for construction of an addition to the Comox RCAF mess hall has been awarded Harrison and Longland of Courtenay.

Gasoline Plus Match

NANAIMO — A 12-year-old boy called Nanaimo fire department yesterday after he had attempted to dry up gas he had spilled while filling a power mower in the basement of his Haliburton street home by putting a match to it.

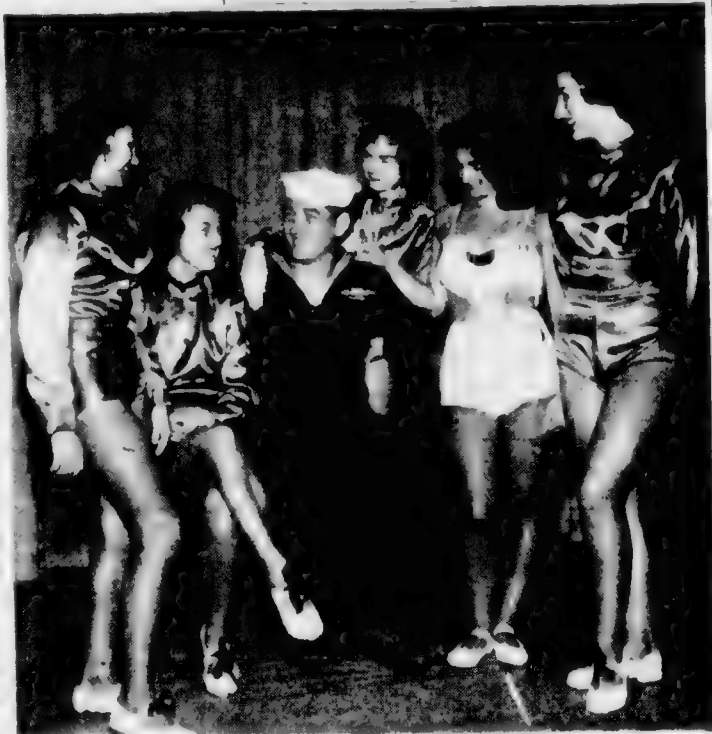

Firemen used masks to get through suffocating smoke which poured out of the basement. They extinguished the blaze before extensive damage was done.

ALBERNI — Permits representing $60,324 in building costs were approved at this week's council meeting. They included four new dwellings, one dwelling addition, a six-unit motel and a garage.

PORT ALBERNI — Gordon Herberston won the first week's Tyne Club trophy, weighing in a 47-pound 12-ounce tyer.

ALBERNI — Eighteen Scouts and three leaders of Second Arrowmuth Troop have returned from camp on Lasqueti Island with reports of

Crowd Of One Meets Cast

The show did not go on, but at least the audience met the chorus girls. The city invited visiting U.S. sailors to a special Jerry Gosley Smile Show at the 1,600-seat Central Junior High School auditorium last night, but only Seaman John Pearson of Indianapolis showed up by 8 p.m. curtain time. He told entertainers, from left, Dot Slater, Jill Pinniger, Jackie Porteous, Frances Merriman and Deanna Pizag: "It was at a school, so the boys thought it was a school concert." (Colonist Photo by Bud Kinsman).

Oak Bay Planning New Municipal Hall

Crashes Injure Children

Four children were injured in separate accidents in Saanich yesterday; three of them involving bicycles.

Most serious sent three-year-old David McKechnie, 3420 Veteran, to Royal Jubilee Hospital with a broken leg. The boy was in collision with a car driven by Bruce T. Rutherford, 1204 Knight avenue, on Richmond near Cedar.

At 4:30 p.m. Shirley Petney, 3378 Douglas, was in collision with an automobile while riding her bicycle at Cauldwell and the Island highway.

She was treated for scratches. Driver of the car was John William Elander, 809 Hutchins.

ANOTHER CYCLIST

Another cyclist Carol Webb, 171 Kamloops, was in collision with a car at Carey and Tillicum.

She was treated for a skinned elbow and a bump on the head. Driver of the car was Miss H. M. R. Stagnall, 2795 Seaview road.

Third cyclist Robert White, 9 of 3922 St. Peter's road, rode into the parked car of James M. Shollick, 3633 St. Peter's road. The boy suffered a skinned knee.

Oak Bay municipal services will be concentrated in two buildings if property holders approve in December a money-by-law asking authority to borrow up to $250,000 for a new municipal hall.

Municipal council decided Monday that the site of the proposed new hall will be the old Oak Bay elementary school, across Oak Bay avenue from the present hall.

At the same time, Reeve Fred Norris said yesterday council has decided tentatively that if a new hall is approved, the police department will be moved into an addition to be constructed at the present fire hall.

Well-baby clinic, now housed at the school, would be moved into the new hall along with other health unit employees. Temporary premises will have to be found for the clinic between the time demolition of the school begins and any new hall is completed.

The new school police court would be moved to any new hall. Coun. C. H. G. Mann said Oak Bay Kiwanis Club, of which he is a member, would build a new hall near the Scout hall for Girl Guides, also housed in the school.

Tenders for demolition of the 36-year-old school, returned to Oak Bay by the school board Monday, will be called "in a couple of weeks," the reeve said, and demolition will start as soon as possible.

Council decided against construction of a new hall on the site of the present one because the lot will not permit a large enough building and sufficient off-street parking. The reeve said the fire hall addition to house the police force would not cost more than $10,000, and the cost would be included in the money by-law. Municipal clerk A. D. Findlay and municipal engineer A. S. G. Musgrave have been instructed

BY R. O. MARRION
Colonist City Hall Reporter

City council instructed the city engineer yesterday to go ahead with calling tenders for steel work on a new Point Ellice bridge and for repairs to the present piers, which will bear the new bridge.

Council rejected the suggestion of Ald. Robert Macmillan that it also instruct the engineer to look into the feasibility and cost of a new bridge at an alternative site, as on the narrow part of the fjord near the city boundary.

Almost unanimous opinion of council was that it can decide its next course of action when it discovers the actual prospect of the new bridge. Mayor Percy Scourrah called the special council meeting at the request of Ald. Macmillan.

'Reasonable Bid'

But he warned that the "right price" and the contract price might not be the same, although "the likelihood is that we will get a reasonable bid."

Ald. Austin Curtis suggested that whether a new bridge were built or not, the pier footings would have to be repaired, and the cost should be regarded as normal maintenance. The public shouldn't think of it as part of the cost of a new bridge, he said.

Ald. Macmillan didn't agree with this reasoning and fore saw further increases in cost. He said he was concerned that council might proceed to the point where it had to finish the after underwater defects were found in the bridge piers and the piece of steel rose.

City Engineer James Garnett said the cost of repairing the piers had been estimated at $72,000, an estimate that he considered on the high side. Together with the increased cost of fabricating steel, which he earlier had estimated at about $10,000 or $20 a ton, this cost would not bring the "right price" of the new bridge much above the $50,000 approved by the rate payers, he indicated.

new bridge, and go back to the people for more money.

But Mayor Scourrah said any contract would be built and fast, and if tenders were too high, council might have to call for new bids and go farther afield.

Ald. Macmillan said he could only consider pier repairs as maintenance if council remained adamant in wanting to build the new bridge at that particular spot. But he contended, a bridge in another location such as between Harriet and Arm, could as well or better serve the needs of Victoria's commuters, prove the Fountain circle traffic situation and being half as long, might be cheaper.

'People Had Voted'

Would it not be reasonable, he asked, to have the engineer look into the cost and feasibility of relocating the bridge?

But Mayor Scourrah, Ald. M. H. Mooney and Ald. Arthur Dowell said Ald. Macmillan's proposal had been thoroughly discussed in council for years. The people had voted the mayor said, for a bridge at Point Ellice.

As he saw it, Bay street was a through street, right from the Backyard to Victoria Hospital, and couldn't possibly be closed. And to close it would mean great inconvenience for the people of Victoria West.

Ald. Dowell took the view that the bridge must be built at Point Ellice at whatever cost. The mayor added that industry and business had built up in the area because of the Point Ellice bridge. "In spite of it," Ald. Macmillan interjected—and that the fire department would take a dim view of the new bridge being built out at the city limits.

"Wouldn't it be wise," asked the mayor, "to call tenders, and then find out where we're at?"

"Wouldn't it be wise," continued Ald. Macmillan, "to have an alternative in process of being prepared?"

In the final vote, only Ald. Macmillan opposed proceeding to call tenders.

Discovery Delayed

The city engineer explained to Ald. J. Donald Smith in the course of debate why the pier footing deterioration had not been discovered earlier.

Above water, he said, the piers were found to be perfectly sound. They weren't settling or cracking and so it could be assumed that the footings were good.

But when detailed plans for the new bridge were completed, the engineers found the weight of the new bridge would be considerably more than the weight of the old.

It therefore became necessary to find how many piles the footings were staking out, to see if they would bear the new weight. It was in this examination that a diver found "quite extensive" cavities in the footings.

In view of the discovery, Mr. Garnett said, "next year, if not before, I shall be asking for an appropriation to examine the footings of Johnson street bridge in the same way."

He said new piers for the Point Ellice bridge would cost $200,000 or $300,000, and assured council that the firm expected to repair the present piers had successfully repaired many other piers in the same way.

CHARLES PARKER
May seek re-election

Island Riding Wanted

BY PETER BRUTON
Charles Parker, Social Credit MLA for Peace River, will only stand for re-election if he can get the nomination in a Greater Victoria or Vancouver Island constituency.

"I definitely will not be running in Peace River again," he told The Daily Colonist yesterday.

"If the opportunity presents itself I will run somewhere here or on the island," added the 43-year-old former Dawson Creek minister whose love for electoral life almost equals his love for Social Credit.

At last, the opportunity has not presented itself, he indicated.

Mr. Parker, who gave up his chancery career because he could not devote the full time to it, intends living "somewhere outside Victoria."

He has moved to Vancouver Island owing to his wife's health.

Mr. Parker's present constituency of Peace River, which he will continue to represent until the next election, covers a staggering 61,900 square miles.

He was first elected to the legislature in 1952 and was re-elected in the general election of 1955.

Peace River will be divided into two ridings prior to the next election, rumored to be coming this fall.

Former finance minister Elmer Gaudet and Mrs. Margaret "Ma" Murray, publisher of the Alaska Highway News in Fort St. John, have both been mentioned as possible candidates to carry the Social Credit flag in the two Peace River ridings.

The provincial government feels that the extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway into the Peace River district will assure the election of two Social Credit members.

Gay Vienna Only Myth

In old Vienna they no longer live for wine, women and song. In fact, they haven't done so for a long while although, like most other peoples, they can relax at the right time.

Dr. Kurt Waldheim, first Austrian minister to Canada in history, emphasized yesterday that the 7,000,000 people of his country have worked hard since the First World War to produce a stable, prosperous nation.

He was here with J. C. Hecht, Austrian consul at Vancouver, to pay courtesy calls to administrator, Chief Justice Gordon Sloan and Premier W. A. C. Bennett yesterday and to Mayor Percy Scourrah this morning.

Asked about wine, women and song Dr. Waldheim said: "This question is not posed for the first time. . . . It is true that between the two world wars, a lot of movies pictured Austria as a place where wine, women and song were the main things."

As people who like only songs, women and wine.

"It wasn't possible because our people had to work very hard to establish a new state," he said.

Division of the Austro-Hungarian empire removed from Austria its agricultural and minerals-rich hinterlands, leaving the big city of Vienna isolated economically.

Progress has been great since the Second World War and now Austria has an economic boom, full employment and a sound economic situation is solid.

In addition, Austria has a stable government — a coalition of the conservative Catholics and Socialists has been in power since November, 1945, and the minister adds simply: "We are part of the Western world; only three of the 217 seats in parliament are held by Communists."

"Of course," he said, "I insist that we like a cozy atmosphere, music, to be together after work is done."

Wine gardens are still open, however, to give the proper atmosphere for the tourists.

Navy To Fire Torpedoes at Crowd

A crew of 150 men will start work today readying a wide sweeping semi-circle around Horseshoe bay for the biggest, yet most compact, Navy Day celebrations here on record.

Aug. 15. At the head of the bay a large pit will be dug and a specially constructed metal tank will be inserted for the frogmen demonstration.

static displays will be able to see manoeuvres and firing by offshore fighting ships from the same spot.

The crowds will be led to Beacon Hill Park by the largest parade ever staged by the navy — 14 hours long. One thousand men will march behind the white ensign, one-third in blues, one-third in khaki and one-third in white.

and it will have a few surprises for the spectators.

On arrival at the park the sailors will be reviewed by Mayor Percy Scourrah from the saluting base above the cliff of the bay.

The move to Beacon Hill was suggested so that it wouldn't be necessary for spectators to move a wide area in order to see all of the displays.

For the first time in the history of Navy Day here, a destroyer, the Cayuga, will fire torpedoes toward the crowd. But they will be retrieved before reaching shore.

While the off shore display is in progress youthful visitors will board warships for two-hour "sailor-for-a-day" cruises.

Additional features of the big show will be a nursery and diaper-changing station for the youngest fry, a playground, parents rest centre, children's train ride and continuous movies.

On arrival at the park the sailors will be reviewed by Mayor Percy Scourrah from the saluting base above the cliff of the bay.

The move to Beacon Hill was suggested so that it wouldn't be necessary for spectators to move a wide area in order to see all of the displays.

By ROY PARRETT

Television fans who feel that their TV sets give them trouble now and then should buy a motor boat—one like we have at Swanigan Lake.

It gives nothing but trouble.

When we got it, it had been "completely overhauled."
